

THE ROYAL ENGINEERS from Utrecht, The Netherlands, are known for their catchy popsongs injected by a big dose of Rock and Roll. Inspired by the analog sound of the 70's, they create a show full of groovy and original poprock, delivering the entire audience a smile on their face. In 2016 they played shows all over The Netherlands, released their debut EP 'One' and did several shows on national radio and television. In January 2017, The Royal Engineers did their first tour in the United States, during the Sundance Filmfestival in Utah and recorded a music video for the newest release: Hit It & Do It Again. They recently performed their single on Dutch national television (De Wereld Draait Door).
